

PEOPLE'S HEARING

INVESTIGATING FERC ABUSES OF LAW & POWER

When: Friday, December 2, 2016
9:30 am-4:30 pm

Where: National Press Club
529 14th Street, NW, Washington, DC

At this People's Hearing, representatives of impacted communities from across the nation will testify to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (FERC) abuses of law and power in communities and states across the country. The evidence they present will demonstrate the importance of Congressional hearings into this biased regulatory agency.

THE PEOPLE'S HEARING

182 organizations representing communities in 35 states and the District of Columbia have written to Congress calling for an investigation into FERC's abuses of power and law in communities across the country. At this People's Hearing, representatives of impacted communities will provide testimony and evidence that will demonstrate the need for Congressional hearings regarding FERC and the Natural Gas Act.

The evidence experts present at the People's Hearing will demonstrate that FERC is misusing the language of the Natural Gas Act to strip American communities of their legal and constitutional rights, to undermine the rights and authority of states, to ignore the mandates of federal law and other federal agencies, and to strip communities from having full and fair opportunities to participate in the decision-making process around pipelines.

Those FERC has abused are demanding that Congress:

- ✓ Hold hearings investigating the ways communities are being harmed by FERC's implementation of the Natural Gas Act;
- ✓ Reform the Natural Gas Act to better protect communities and support smart, unbiased decisions,
- ✓ Oppose language in the North American Energy Security and Infrastructure Act of 2016 intended to further 'streamline' an already streamlined process for advancing the review and approval of natural gas infrastructure and that undermines state authority.
